Pope Julius II convened the Fifth Lateran Council (1512-1517) at the Lateran Palace in Rome. It was presided over by himself and his successor, Leo X.

It was called to settle issues as how much power the pope would have over kings, and the raising of a Christian army to combat the

the Turks - whose troops had surged into Europe to seize Greece and much of the Balkans.

Should the proper date for the equinox be based on:

- 1) the year of Caesar's reform?
 - 2) the time of Christ?
 - 3) the Council of Nicaea
 - 4) or the Creation of the World
- What was correct meridian on which to base the Easter Calculator: Rome? Jerusalem?

Ecumenical
Council

Pope Julius II, Leo X

12 sessions held between May 3, 1512 and Nov. 16, 1517. Stated the relationship relation and position of the Pope with respect to an ecumenical council; acted to counter Pragmatic Sanction of BOURGES and exaggerated claims of liberty by the French Church; condemned erroneous teachings concerning the nature of the human soul; stated doctrinal concerning indulgences. The Council reflected concern for abuses in the Church and the need for reforms but failed to take decisive action in the years immediately preceding the Reformation -
